

Ean Price Murphy

Presenter, “Need to Know Finance for Nonprofit Boards”

Ean Price Murphy founded Moxie Bookkeeping & Coaching to use her ability to work with numbers and her love of teaching to help nonprofits, radically kind entrepreneurs, and small businesses to implement a system that makes them comfortable with money, know exactly where they stand financially, and manage their cash without fear. Moxie has won "best of Brooklyn" three years in a row.

With more than 30 years of experience working in finance with nonprofits of all sizes, Ean specializes in listening to the questions the board is asking and shaping the financial software to support relevant answers.

She has served on several nonprofit boards herself - currently as the Treasurer for both ABCNoRio in New York and Sierra Commons in Nevada City.

Ean is a certified Mastery level Profit First Professional, Xero Platinum partner, Quickbooks ProAdvisor, certified business coach and certified online presenter.

Ean is a second-generation California native and attended high school at the Sierra Friends Center John Woolman school before moving to New York City for 30 years. She returned to Grass Valley pre-pandemic with her husband and immediately adopted her adorable pitbull, Thor, from Sammies.
